12 x 12 OPTION

Simple increase the scale of the photo group and mat. Anchor in the same position.

Grouped, offset and grounded. Grouping photos together creates an easily identifiable proximity that feels right to the eye. Notice how the image group is offset to the right, and is framed on the right and bottom with about an inch of space. This serves to anchor the image group. The headline and journaling serve as accents, with a direct connection to the image group.
